Being Filipinos, we all know what it's like to have adult responsibilities; how we need to take care of our parents, siblings, our own families and for some, extended even to the relatives and neighbors. In the olden times during the Spanish colonial rule, affluent Filipino families are able live comfortably because they can afford to hire someone to assume the role of a Butler who can manage their household chores, manage the cooks, footmen, housekeepers and other workers.

Fast forward to today, the same is true. Although, more Filipinos are entering the middle-class income bracket, hiring a Butler to manage their household is still crazy expensive and out of reach. More Filipinos are engaged with their work, busier than ever from earning a living.

They are so busy that all their time are spent in the office or in the road travelling to and from the office. There is barely any time left for doing household chores, and worst, no time to spend with their families. Is it not ironic that the ones who really need a butler cannot afford one?

This is why Mr. Butler is here. Mr. Butler, as a personified technology, is able to be everyone's personal butler. We give you the power to gift yourself with freedom, with more personal time to have a comfortable and happy life.

We make sure you get what you need, we'll clean your home, we'll fix whatever is broken and we'll run a quick errand just for you. We are #TheHelpYouCanTrust
